The change in the cabinet at a critical moment in the nation's history took effect with the signing of the note to Germany by Acting Secretary Lansing.

It was said today President Wilson would be in no hurry about making a Text of the President's permanent appointment to succeed Sec-retary Bryan, and that his most likely hoice for the place was Mr. Lansing. The President is known to have a very high opinion of Mr. Lansing's abilities and is very much inclined in his favor.

much attention from the President.

Secretary Garrison was being men tioned today, but it was thought the President would want to keep him in his present position because of the Mextion of the army which Mr. Garrison has had under way for some time.

Denial of Daniels Resignation. Reports that Secretary Daniels had resigned or would do so were current to day, but were flatly denied on all sides The report, it was said, grew out of the well-known friendship and long intimacy national politics of Mr. Bryan and Mr. Daniels. As a matter of fact, nine members of the Cabinet stood solidly for the President's position as expressed in the notes. Mr. Daniels was with those who differed with the Secretary of State. Some members even advised a stronger logy than the President had used, but on the final discussion the defision to send the note was unanimous. There was a well-defined trend of opin official quarters that the resign tion of Mr. Bryan would go far in im pressing Germany with the earnest inits rights it is understood that the United States has from time to time re-ceived authoritative information that high German officials believed the adnistration was committed to a policy of uninterrupted peace and did not in-tend, at any time, or under any circum-stances, to go to war. leading up to it. Just as this edition made its appearance, two other afternoon newspapers issued extras which merely carried the same bulletin announcement that had appeared in the Post-Dispatch's Baseball Edition.

Government Counsellor Who Now Is Acting Secretary of State CITES ADVICE TO AMERICANS TO LEAVE MEXICAN TERRITORY

Says American Passenger Ships Shall Be Prohibited From Carrying Ammunition-Citizens Should Avoid Danger Out of Consideration for Their Country.

WASHINGTON, June 9 .- Just after two o'clock this afternoon when the new American note to Germany, which caused the Cabinet crisis culminating in Secretary Bryan's resignation, started on its way to Berlin, Mr. Bryan gave out a statement on his attitude.

Bryan's personal statement contends that the difficulties between Germany and the United States should be investigated by an international commission and that Americans should be warned to keep off belligerent ships or those carrying ammunition through the danger zone.

At the White House Secretary Tumulty stated positively that no comment would be made on Mr. Bryan's statement.

Mr. Bryan at his home gave out this statement: "My reason for resigning is clearly stated in my letter of resignation-namely that I may employ as a private citizen the means which the President does not feel at liberty to employ. I honor him for doing what he believes to be right and I am sure that he desires, as I do, to find a peaceful solution of the problem which has been created by the action of the submarines.

"Two of the points on which we differ, each conscientious in his "First, as to the suggestion of investigation by an international commision, and,

"Second, as to warning Americans against traveling on belligerent vessels or with cargoes of ammunition.

"I believe that this nation should frankly state to Germany that are willing to apply, in this case, the principle which we are bound by treaty to apply to disputes between the United States and 30 countries with which we have made treaties providing for investigation of all disputes of every character and nature.

"These treaties, negotiated under this administration make war practically impossible between this country and the 30 governments representing nearly three-fourths of all the people of the world. "Among the nations with which we have these treaties are Great Britain, France and Russia. No matter what disputes may arise between us and these treaty nations, we agree that there shall be no declaration and no commencement of hostilities until the matters in dispute have been investigated by an international commission and a year's time is allowed for investigation and report. This plan was offered to all the nations, without any exceptions whatever, and Germany was one of the nations that accepted the principle, being the twelfth, I think, to accept. No treaty was actually entered into with Germany, but I can not see that should stand in the way when both nations endorsed the principle. I do not know whether Germany would accept the offer, but our country should, in my judgment, make the offer.

"Such an offer, if accepted, would at once relieve the tension and silence all the jingoes who are demanding war. Germany has always been a friendly nation and a great many of our people are of German ancestry. Why should we not deal with Germany according to this plan; to which the nation has pledged its support!

"The second point of difference is as to the course which should be pursued in regard to Americans traveling on belligerent ships or with cargoes of ammunition.

"Why should an American citizen be permitted to involve his country in war by traveling upon a belligerent ship when he knows that the ship will pass through a danger zone? The question is not whether an American citizen has a right under international law to travel on a belligerent ship; the question is whether he ought not, out of consideration for his country, if not for his own safety, avoid danger when avoidance is

"It s very one-sded citizenship that compels a Government to go to war over a citizen's rights and yet relieve the citizen of all obligations to consider his nation's welfare. I do not know just how far the President can legally go in actually preventing Americans from traveling on belligerent ships, but I believe the Government should go as far as it can, and that in case of doubt it should give the benefit of the doubt to the Government.

"But even if the Government could not legally prevent citizens from traveling on belligerent ships, it could, and in my judgment should, earnestly advise American citizens not to risk themselves or the peace of their country and I have no doubt that these warnings would be "President Taft advised Americans to leave Mexico when in rection broke out there and President Wilson has repeated the advice. This advice, in my judgment, was eminently wise, and I think the same course should be followed in regard to warning Americans to keep off vessels subject to attack.

"I think, too that American passenger ships should be profrom carrying ammunition. The lives of passengers ought not to be endangered by cargoes of ammunition whether that danger comes from possible explosions within or from possible attacks from without engers and ammunities should not travel together. The most familiar illustration is to be found in the action taken by municipal authorities during a riot. WASHINGTON, June 8. My Dear Mr. President: It is with sincere regret that I have reached the conclusion that I should return to you the com-mission of the Secretary of State with which you honored me at the beginning of your administra-tion.

Obedient to your sense of duty and actuated by the highest motives, you have prepared for transmission to the German Government a note in which I cannot join without violating what I deem to be an obligation to my country, and the issue involved is of such moment that to remain a member of the Cabinet would be unfair to you, as it would be to the cause which is nearest my heart, namely, the prevention of

In his own ward, the Fifteenth, he said, the entire political organization was working energetically and enthusiastically for the Parkway, but in spite of all the work that was done and all the political influence that could be exerted, the proposition was defeated in the ward by 312 votes.

Sevunteenth Ward a Surprise.

The Seventeenth Ward was the surprise of the election. It was expected that a heavy majority against the Parkway would be in the ward. The Ward, as the greater part of the Parkway would be in the ward. The ward, however, gave a majority of 90 for the Parkway. Republican City Committeeman Frank Slater worked for the Parkway proposition. There is a heavy negro population in the ward, and many of the negroes apposed the Parkway, fearing that they would be forced to move.

The probability of the negroes having to find another district in the city in which to settle also brought out a strong vote against the Parkway in several other wards. Democratic City Committeeman Thomas Leonard of the Twenty-seventh Ward said that many of the voters of that ward opposed the Parkway because they feared the netroes would be forced out of the Parkway district into some of the residence districts of the Twenty-seventh Ward.

Fate is kind to some men; unkind to others. It is the tragedy of Mr. Bryan's career that when he took a long chance fortune frowned upon him. Seeking con-solation from three defeats for the presidency in an office other defeated presidential aspirants have filled with distinction—Calhoun, Clay, Webster, Sewand and Blaine among them—he experi-enced only disappointment and disillu-sion. Chance put on him tasks for which he had no training and to which he was not equal. His faffure should serve as a warning to Presidents tempt ed in the future to dispose of the secre taryship of state merely as a party con olation prize. New York American: Perhaps in thus following his conscience Mr. Bryan has done his country a real service by emphasizing the far divergence of the administration of which he now ceases to be a member, from that strict and impartial neutrality which should char-acterize this nation, and by the observ-ance of which alone it can escape entanglement in the world war.

The administration jealously guards the text of the note now about to be enough evidence to justify the belief that it is no less extreme in demands, and even more uncompromising in its tone, than the first note.

moment is that it is couched in such terms that a statesman who is a pacifist in principle and who regards prevention of war as the cause nearest his heart, is unable to be a party to it. It is a nice point for all men holding peace principles to judge the moment of dissociating themselves from a policy which might conceivably, by the logic of events, land them in warfilke consequences, but we can scarcely be surjuences, but we can scarcely be sur-crised if the American statesman, who olds that his countrymen must run no isks of war, should feel that the hour for his departure has come.

The Government, of which he is a member, took its stand after the sinking of the Lusitania on the principle hither to thought to be unchallenged in the law of see warfers that a helligerent law of sea warfare that a belligerent who either seized an enemy merchantman or exercised his right of search and detention upon a neutral suspected of ble for the safety of noncombatants whether crew or passengers, on board

We do not doubt that it was a genuin: disappointment to Mr. Bryan to find that persuasive argument is without effect on the rulers of Germany.

Chicago Examiner: Many who have been little in accord with Mr. Bryan will share that doubt, and applaud the devotion to principle that has led him to cut clear from a policy which he justly apprehends may end in war. For it is as a matter of devotion to that principle that humanity, that duty to which Mr. Wilson so frequently refers, that Mr. Bryan has acted in this matter. He has followed his conscience and his convictions. Believing as he does in universal peace, he refuses to identify himself with a policy that may involve this country in the calamity which has overwhelmed Europe. He has taken the only course open to him, and is to be commended for fis strict adherence to duty and to the public welfare as he

Chicago Journal: There can be no loubt of the sincerity of purpose which prompted Mr. Bryan to resign. There s equally little doubt that the resignation is a serious mistake. This is a poor time for the mate to quit the ship because he does not like the way the Captain has trimmed the sails. Lincoln was willing to hold McClellan's horse if he would bring victory. Surely, Mr. Bryan should have been willing to hold up the President's hands. President this resignation but he will pursue that course, and he will have the backing of united nation-as he already has the backing of a united Cabinet: The American people like Bryan, but they have always trusted his heart, rather than his head; while they know that in Woodrow Wilson a sensitive conscience and a will of tempered steel are guided by one of the keenest intellects in puble life today.

Buffalo Courier (Dem.): The resgnation of Secretary Bryan will no loubt be regarded and be treated as a more or less sensational event. For this eason it is regrettable that it should take place at a critical stage of our re-lations with Germany and with Mexico. At this time the wise, patriotic course to be pursued is to stand by the national pokesman.

Boston Globe (Ind.): Mr. Bryan's move will strengthen the President's hands. At a critical time he will have a united Cabinet, which will assist him upon the course upon which he has started without annoying him with imractical suggestions.

The action of Mr. Bryan in resigning is embarassing situation. The country has Wilson. It is no reflection on Mr. Bryan Pitisburg Post (Dem.): Mr. Bryan has consistently stood for peace, not, perhaps, at any price, as some would have had us think, but he would go much further than most men to obtain it. With the President just as firmly in favor of peace, and as head of the nation and the administration, his views must prevail.

Omaha Bee (Rep.) Politically Mr. Bryan's resumption of the estate of pri-vate citizen is bound to change the topography of our domestic affairs, more especially in his home State of Neoraska. No one believes for a moment that he will be content to serve in the ranks. We hardly look to a fourth can-didacy for the net presidency at the next turn, but we would not be at all surprised to see him throw his hat in the ring for the Nebraska senatorship.

St. Louis Westliche Post: One thing is certain The differences are caused by the insistence of the President to present an uncompromising ultima-tum to Germany. In his firm belief in his own infallibility and not for one moment doubting that his Cabi-net would share his conviction, Mr. Wilson has drawn the strings too tight and must suffer the consequences. The exaggerated hymns of praise by the press for every step he has taken against Germany have left so deep an impression upon him that he evidently regards himself as the man of destiny. To a temperament such as President Wilson flattery is dangerous and a press which lends itself to it commits a crime, espe-cially at a time when the destiny of a nation is at stake. For weeks we had to hear daily that it is the duty of every citizen to follow the President through thick and thin. Now it is his own Secretary of State who diverges from this. There is not one member of the Cabinet who is in closer touch with the people than the President, therefore he would have done well (not to say that it would have been his duty) to have asked the Cabinet for advice and then to write the note, instead of having taken a definite stand beforehand and then expecting as a mat-ter of course that the Cabinet would take his view. It must be most un-pleasant to the President to hear the suspicion voiced that he, by his un-relenting policy, has raised doubts regarding the sincerity of the arbi-tration policy heretofore pursued by the United States. That many people will now consider the whole world peace agitation insincere can hardly

Dr. Bracy said it was Price's opinion that this rall caused the machine to turn over. The read was 25 feet wide, Dr. Bracy said, anad the space for meeting or passing grother vehicle was sufficient, if each kept to its own side.

Dr. Charles D. Potts thought the road was not more than 20 feet wide, but said there was room for vehicles to pass. He said the space between the tracks vas not improved with macadam, es is required in the case of city street car

Attorney-General Institutes Quo Warranto Proceedings Against the Merchants.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 9.-Attorney-General Barker today, in the Mis-souri Supreme Court, filed quo warranto proceedings against the Merchants' Ex-change of St. Louis, asking that the charter of the exchange be revoked and that it be punished for exceeding the powers granted to it in its charter from the State.

It is alleged in Barker's petition that the Exchange illegally and wrongfully has been charging fees for the weighing of grain shipped into the St. Louis market. Under a law passed several years ago it was provided that officials paid by the State should weigh all grain shipped to St. Louis and Kan-sas City. For this weighing the State charges a fee. It is alleged in Barker's petition that the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange employs private weighers and requires that all grain coming into the market be weighed by these men, regardless of its having already been weighed by the State. For this weighing the ex-change, it is alleged, charges a fee of 50 cents a car.

The petition alleges this is a useless and extra charge and that the exchange has no right under its charter to collect fees for the weighing of grain.

Barker told a Post-Dispatch reporter that within a few days he would file a similar suit to revoke the charter of the Kansas City Board of Trade.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Manager
Rickey and his squad of athletes left here last night for Washington, a couple of hours after they had finished their series with the Athletics, which ended in three victories for the White Elephants three victories for the White Elephants to one for St. Louis.

Fans in this city are in doubt as to which is the best thrower, Clarence Walker or Dee Walsh. Both of these players gave great exhibitions while the Browns were here. It was not until yesterday that Dee got into the game. Every time that a ball was hit to either of these players, he cut loose with a terrific throw, much to the delight of the fans. Both made several long, accurate throws. Some day Clarence and Dee may wish they hadn't wasted their throwing ammunition just to get a little applause.

Dinneen Aids Mackmen.

Umpire Dinneen gave the Athletics a run n the third inning yesterday. With Bress on third and Murphy on second, with out, Barry's line drive was muffed by tton. After the ball was hit. Bressler back towards second. Shotton recovious hit has ball and threw to Austin at third. The ball reached Austin, who had his on the base, ahead of Bressler, but Dinn gave "Rube" safe. Had a put-out nallowed, the White Elephants would be been blanked instead of getting a rupthis inning.

Yesterday they chalked up their third straight victory over St. Louis, 5—1, and gained a tighter hold on first place. While Miles Main, the right-hander, snared from the Tigers, pitched brilliant ball for the locals and chalked up his seventh straight victory, Boss Stovall and Al Shaw also came in for their share of the honors.

Pollowing immediately upon the heels of William J. Bryan's resignation came the announcement this morning that Manager McGraw of the Glants had suspended Larry McLean for 10 days without pay. Bryan is a great temperance advocate, while McLean favors—well, never mind about that.

However, Larry claims a foul. He says the first portion of a bonus promised him by the New York club is due July 1. Now he gets the gate for no apparent reason other than his failure to hit during Meyers' absence. McLean is genuinely sore, but that really doesn't matter. His contract is for one year, and contains a 10-day clause.

Suffice it to say, therefre, that recently the following events are come to pass about in the order lantioned:

So far the Giants have had all the bad look of the league. They have had more than the Braves, although the loss of Evers equals almost the loss of any two players in the circuit. However, the Giants are coming inte their own, and old Chris Mathewann is waiting only for the sun to bake the kinks out of his left shoulder. A Bumper Crop, but No Market.

THAT "all dressed up, but no place to go" feeling is very strong in athletic circles in this country, just at present. Owning the greatest of college athletes ever known in any year since the records of track and field sports have been preserved, this country now finds itself without an adequate place in which to display its marvels to advantage.

The virtual certainty that the Olympic ly established, seem destined to defy games of 1916 will not be held in Ger- assault for many seasons to come. meny, as scheduled, or will not be inter national wherever held—if at all—is re-sponsible for this misfortune. Since the text Olympic games will not be held until 1929, in all probability, most of the great athletic material will have passed from the limelight or out of its physical prime without achieving world's honors.

On the whole, the figures shown for the 1915 athletes are better than the grand average performance in similar events at the Olympic games, excepting in the weights.

from the limelight or out of its physical prime without achieving world's honors.

The wonderful class shown in collegiate competition, this season, is partly evident from a comparison of the 1915 marks with those of world's all-time records—figures accepted by the International A. A. U.

In the appended table, the 1915 marks used are those made at the Big Nine and Eastern intercollegiate meets.

Some of the world's records, made under favoring conditions of exceptional nature, have stood for 15 years and more; while others, more recent—world's championship figures:

the weights.

Better performances than these may be on record out on the coast, or in casual meets of lesser note. But restring the estimate on the figures shown, the 1915 winners mentioned here could capture an Olympio meet hands down. It is doubtful if, outside of America, there exists an athlete who could better any of the performances named, with the possible exception of the hammer throw, or the two-mile run.

Following is a table showing the All-lift athletic team, the greatest outfit of collegians ever turned out in one year; and its records compared to world's championship figures:

Of the Garfield pitchers, Ottenad has made the best showing. He beat Fanning with one run and three hits, while last Saturday in the clash which gave his team the division pennant, he set Froebel down with five safeties and two runs.

The javelin, discus and the odd distances over two miles might be won by Europeans, but that seems all.

West No Longer Second Fiddle. Norwegian Girl Again Winner In

Again Winner In ment is one fact that may be deduced from the figures made by the Western Conference College athletes at Urbana Saturday and at the intercollegiates of the previous week.

In fact, the marks in seven of the Western events were better than those of the Atlantic Coast athletes, who excelled in but five. Two events at the intercollegiates were won by H. L. Smith, the Western sprinter from the University of Michigan.

The Eastern supremacy is largely in the field events. Following are the marks made at the two meets compared, the asterisk marking the better performance in each case:

The girl's parents found her early this morning at the O'Fallon Park police station, after she had been picked up in the park. She had been at the station since afternoon, but the fact had not been connected with the disappearance of a child in another part of the city. Buster Ritchey was found last evening in a house near Clark and Leffingwell avenues, where it appeared that a woman had left him, saying she would come back and get the lcy. The Valhalla Communal Mausoleum

The one bright ray of earthly consolation in the dark hour of death lies in the comforting reflection that we have done the uttermost humanly possible to insure the safety and perpetuate the tender care of our beloved.

Mausoleum Interment

The Mausoleum was, from the beginning, the tomb of royalty; and what so truly royal as the dead we love!-Nothing is too good, too beautiful or too secure for them. Not in the close night and dampness of the unsheltered earth, exposed to the ravages of the elements; not upon the searing desecration of the funeral pyre, but in the soft-lit silence of a seamless, snow-white tomb within a structure built of concrete, marble, bronze and steel, d we lay them to rest—a rest unbroken by tumult and unstirred by time-s rest to which we may make pil-

The Communal Mausoleum

Four objections have hitherto hindered the general use of the Mausoleum; its great cost, its lack of sanitation, its lack of chapel facilities and the difficulty of insuring its care through future generations. All these objections inhere in the private Mausoleum, but all have been fully overcome in the Communal Mausoleum. There is no reason why you should not share in its benefits.

The Advantages

1. The individual tomb in the Communal Mausoleum costs no more than the ordinary earth burial.

2. Its sanitation is perfect. The health departments in over 300 cities give it unqualified endorsement. 3. It provides a spacious chapel, where the family and friends of the dead may shelter during the services. 4. It is protected by an adequate endowment fund. which insures its perpetual integrity and magnificenow

Such is the Valhalla Communal Mausoleum -the crowning refinement of American civilization. Built upon a sentiment as beautiful as its own chaste design, grounded upon sanitary and ethical reasons as strong as the concrete and steel and marble in its walls, it marks the opening of a new epoch in sepulture.

Why Leave St. Louis?

The Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The great trouble with St. Louis seems to be spirit of superconservation. spirit of superconservatism, that has blinded the sys to the possibilities of substantial growth, logsally necessary if we are to maintain our position as a great commercial center.

Why are our manufacturing interests seeking resphically, makes us impregnable?
To illustrate my point, permit me to reproduce the following little want ad which appeared in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch:

MR. BRYAN'S RESIGNATION.

How history will look upon Mr. Bryan's resigation in one of the gravest crises that have confronted American statesmanship will depend on his further course.

It has not been usual for American statesnanship to turn its back on responsibility at such a time and in such a way. But if coming events show that in professing a desire to avoid embarrassment to the administration Mr. Bryan was sincere—if his purpose was to avoid signing his name as Secretary of State to a paper he could not approve in its entirety and he felt that his lack of sympathy with administration methods both commendable and natural. bad grown until it affected his usefulness-Americans of the present as well as the future will recognize a certain Quixotic, if mistaken, consistency in what he has done and will approve the act as not unworthy of the author of 30 peace

If, however, he has quit like James G. Blaine, in fit of pique; if injury to pride, not violence to conviction, has caused his desertion in the moment of greatest stress; if he joins himself later to that hyphenated element whose toast is not "America, Right or Wrong," but "Germany, Right or Wrong," and who hold that Germany could not possibly commit any outrage against us that we would be justified in resenting-if it appears hereafter that he was not unmindful in resigning of the political possibilities of a complicated and distressing situation—there can be no more of doubt as to history's verdict than of doubt that his public career is about to come to an inglorious end. That he should cause division at a time when national unity is a sacred duty will be deemed deplorable.

This first break in that Cabinet of "practical idealists," whose selection we watched with such interest two years and three months ago is a cause for regret. But Mr. Bryan cannot successfully raise any issue with Mr. Wilson on the arbitration of international disputes. The time has not come yet to talk arbitration. While Germany sends such side-stepping, quibbling notes as her reply to our Lusitania protest, there is nothing to arbitrate. No principles are laid down by her and no doctrines are defined to which arbitration can apply.

And no note that Mr. Wilson can be conceived of as writing will close the door irrevocably to somes elsewhere? Is it because we do not per-leve the value of such enterprises at home, or is Bryan peace treaties themselves was to be invoked only after diplomacy had failed. And diplomacy has not yet failed with Germany.

In fact, there could be no better guarantee of peace in the present stage of negotiations than a diplomatic statement so resolute, unequivocal and emphatic as to remove all doubt as to our manufacturer, who has established a market his goods in all sections of this country, shipfrom this city as far east as Maine; to Calrifice.

Nothing could be more dangerous to peace than Germans, at home and abroad, that because we are a peace-loving people and will go to great engths to avoid war, it is safe to trifle with us. If Mr. Wilson's new note is such a resolute, unequivocal, emphatic statement, it will serve a most useful and patriotic purpose. In what help us poor people to overcome the most useful and patriotic purpose. In what nese journalist, J. Miya Gawa, who is making vision the charge and reading of the electric language must it be clothed to compel the resigitation in our midst, thank you. Poland, and the Lithuanians of Southwesters cussis, are hoping for a re-establishment of their ncient nationalities as a result of the upheaval

Lithuania, like Ireland, had a revival of na-tional spirit, manifesting itself in literature, espe-cially poetry, and a new interest in the country's history and folklore, during the latter part of the nineteenth century. The Lithuanians were once a powerful and growing nation, as medieval nations went. first defeat is the signal for a broader, better more vigorous campaign for the improvements which will place St. Louis on the progressive plane of competitive cities. The election has been useful in disclosing the causes of defeat and the elements which contributed to it:

1. The indifference of many citizens who did not realize the importance of the Parkway and who would not take the trouble either to inform themselves or to cast their ballots.

2. The selfish interests which played upon popular ignorance and frightened the small taxpayers by misrepresentations of the project.

3. The spoils politicians who seized the op portunity offered by popular indifference to punish the Kiel administration for refusing to vield to their demands, in violation of the char

The power of the spoils political machines must be broken. Organized for spoils and graft noved solely by sordid personal and partisar purposes their control of public business and their influence over blind partisans must be smashed. Their spoils-hungry henchmen must be put out of the running.

PHILADELPHIA RESENTFUL.

The discovery of Dr. Walter B. Cannon of Harvard that andrenin may serve as a substitute for sleep aroused great interest everywhere except in Philadelphia. "No one that we know of ever complained about sleep," solemnly remarks one of the papers of that city. In fact, Philadelphia seems decidedly resentful over the doctor's assurance that she can get with this substance as much rest and refreshment in a two-minute as she now gets in a two-hour sleer Anywhere. Truth to tell, My dear Lucila, Things are Serious at best; Kings are not At all accustomed To their orders From the West. When we try To tell the Kaiser What his country Has to do, It is just As well to have a Lot of people Look it through.

What we say In this epistle Settles whether We shall fight; That is why Our Mr. Bryan Isn't acquiescing Quite. If we have To print it later In a white book Showing cause, Wants to see it Baffle scrutiny For flaws.

That is all. My dear Luella-Not that we Are backing down; Only that we Must be jealou Of our peaceable Benown. No excuse May do for Europe When the worst Comes to the worst our Uncle Sam Would have to Show that someone Hit him first.

ABOUT LIQUOB. HE President of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association said some nice things about liquor over at Cincinnati the other day. (One can say that sort of thing in Cincinnati. It is not like here or almost any place else.) He thinks people have a God-given right to their liquor; that it relieves more misery than it causes; that it increases instead of decreasing our efficiency; that it is a tonic for the body, producing strong and healthy minds; that it prevents crime, empties jails and minimizes the need for all sorts of institutions for defectives.

That is more than has been said for liquor in a long time. There is something in it, too. Not much in spots, but it is probably as true in the main as most of the indictments brought against liquor. The trouble is with us. If we were strong liquor would be no more resented than sorghum molasses. Strong drink and weak men make the unfortunate combination. A strong man whose heart is in the right place can scarcely enjoy a drink of liquor for thinking of the people who want to swim in it. It may be true that it relieves more misery than it causes, but they are not the same misery by a jugful. The head of the booze business is thinking of the pain one suffers when one has not had a drink in a long time; he is not thinking about the misery of the farmer's wife who wonders which bridge her husband has missed.

There are two sides to the liquor question, but they are like the two sides to a circus tent-one of them isn't very popular.

GOT AWAY WITH NO 9. The band boys did well at the theatre last night. They played Number 9 in the red book without a slip-up.—Elton (Ia.) Bugie.

St. Louis had a good day yesterday. All three of her baseball teams lost, and the Parkway went down at the polls. However, she shall fly pennants, and we shall some day see the Union Station through lilac bushes and Japanese cedars.

However, the Zeppelin which fell npon an orphanage and killed two of the children in it, made a lot of more orphans. The war would have to stop if it ran out of innocent victims like orphans,

So far as we can see, the war isn't even deciding which country can tell the biggest lies.

Anyway, we can show visitors to St. Louis where the Parkway was to have been. Couldn't Mr. Bryan have been made Chancellor Board Makes Further Retrenchment in Effort to Save $150,000.

In addition to closing most of the summer schools, the Board of Educa-tion has decided to cut $40,000 out of its appropriation for the evening high schools for the coming year. Next to the $67,500 saving on the summer board's plans of retrenchments that will save $150,000 for the coming year. President Mauch of the board, in a ormal report at a meeting last night, declared it was necessary to save the $150,000 in order to increase schoolroom accommodations. The burden of the cut

Supt. Ben Blewett was asked to rec pt. Ben Bieweit where they to the least harm. He has decid they can best be made by discontinuing all the summer schools except the Har-ris Teachers' College, the Industrial School and the classes for the last quarter of the eighth grade, cutting down the night school expenses, restricting the extra use of school buildings and eliminating optional extra-hour classes.

The evening high schools last year cost $141,000 for teachers, text books, janitor service, light, supplies, etc. That mum enrollment of 3500. Supt. Blewett found that only about 1800 students finished the courses. By fixing an appropriation that would cover the total cost of an enrollment of from 1800 to 2000 for the next year, he figures the of $40,000: The result will be fewer

Another $13,000 is to be saved in cutting down optional extra-hour classes. These are, for the most part, classes in shop work and domestic science, arranged for students in the classical ourse who have already filled up their study schedules in other work, but who wish the additional training. The chief expense in these classes is for supplies and keeping the rooms open. In view of the statement of Judge Frank P. Divelbiss of Richmond, Mo.

that if St. Louis prosecuted a few tax dedgers and enforced the tax laws rigorously it would mean an annual increase of $100,000,000 assessable valuation for St. Louis, the Post-Dispatch today asked Charles P. Ma-son, secretary and treasurer of the Board of Education, what effect that would have on school finances.

While declining to discuss Judge Divelbiss' suggestions on their merits, Mason answered that if such an increase were made it would take care of the financial stringency which recently compelled the Board to curtail its summer and night school

"The Board of Education gets school purposes," Mason said, "24.6 of the taxes collected. An increased assessment on $100,000,000 would mean an annual increase of $2,350,000 to the general treasury of the city, and $600,000 a year, approximately, to the Board of Education. That would be enough no but to build two new school buildings a year, each costing $25,000."

The board has received many ests against its decision to abandon the summer schools, except those at dustrial School and for classes in the fourth quarter of the eighth gra There were also protests against the announcement that the grounds of the Glasgow School would be no longer used as a public recreation park because young men had monopolized the area and driven away the younger children. E. M. Grossman announced last night he would not be a candidate for reelection at attorney for the board.

mood of great enthusiasm today. The text of the second note to Germany had been given out, and there was in it noof the blustering or threatening that Bryan's incoherent appeals to whom they might concern had seemed to foreshadow. Along with this came pretty plain indication, in the morning's European dispatches, that Germany itself had no wish for the breaking off of relations with the United States, and Brysh himself, after denouncing our government's attitude vesterday, was today bowing and scraping in acknowledgment of the pacific character of the situation.

if the Washington note had actually been weak or indecisive and especially if it had incorporated Bryan's own program for an era of perpetual talk, it is safe to say that Wall street would have taken it in as ill part as an unqualified lingo message.

"But the calm and firm reiteration of our position, with a courtesy which adds force to the final peremptory request for a declaration of the Berlin Government's policy, was precisely what the financial community, in its present mood, desired. "Back of this consideration stood the fact, which appealed to the professional Wall street, that the stock market has refused to break on any one of the seemingly unfavorable developments of the day. On each occasion it has been evident, not only that the investing public was not selling, but that its buying orders were in the market at a level which would have brought them in if prices had broken further.

ders were in the market at a level which would have brought them in if prices had broken further.

"This is a clear enough consequence of the larger facts in the country's financial situation. It seems to have caused the inference that a market which would not decline under the recent ruling conditions was intrinsically very strong. On this inference was doubtless based today's concerted buying of professional Wall street.

"Prices opened ¼ to 1 point higher even for standard investment shares, with overnight advances of 1 to 2½ points in the industrials. The subsequent vicorous advance carried prices 2 or 3 points higher on a number of active stocks, with some rather spectacular advances. This rise continued as a rule throughout the day. At the closing hour realizing sales in some of the speculative industries caused the usual sharp reaction, but the general list closed strong and active, not far from the best of the day."

"Outside of the news in high "inlom-act, there was not much in the day." not far from the best of the day."
"Outside of the news in high diplomacy, there was not much in the day's developments to influence prices, but what there was helped along the movement of the day. Gold arrived from Canada, to the amount of $5,000,000 making $5,000,000 received since the year began. Foreign exchange rates were generally lower, sterling in particular showing how difficult London is finding it to regulate and sustain that mark et even by its continuous release of gold from Ottawa. This problem will not decrease in urgency as the Bank of England's Canadan reserve falls to small proportions.

gland's Canadian reserve falls to small proportions.

"The more spectacular advance m some of the industrial stocks led to recrudescence of the familiar ramor's regarding "war orders" and contest for control of 'war order companies. Same of these rumors or conjectures were extremely foolism, but that is Wall street's way. Nothing is harder to dispose of the picturesque idea that the Germans' are frying to buy at any rice the munition manufactories, with the natural purpose of stopping their production or of Keeping their product off the market. As a husiness undertaking, with Berlin exchange and our ocean communication with Germany what they are, an undertaking of this sort would be interesting."

Prices on Stocks Average Lower on Unusual Political Development.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The Evening
Post, in its copyrighted financial review, today says:

"As always happens, in the case of overnight news whose real significance people find it difficult to grasp, the eyes of the whole community were turned to the Stock Exchange at 10 a. m. today to see what judgment would be passed by its opening prices on Mr. Bryan's resignation.

"An immediate decline of ½ to 1 point in the standard investment shares, and of 1 to 4% in the speculative industrials, marked the first transactions. This deciline ran its course in five minutes; it was followed by active buying, under which most or all of the opening losses were recovered. After a pause, the selling was resumed, and prices went below yesterday again. But activity once more slackened at the lower level, with net declines ranging from ½ to 2 points.

The market closed quiet, irregular, and apparently awaiting with more or less uncertainty the text of the note to Germany.

From the Wall Street Standpoint.

The market closed quiet, irregular, and apparently awaiting with more or less uncertainty the text of the note to germany.

From the Wall Street Standpoint.

"The financial market's verdict on last night's news from Washington was-based on somewhat conflicting considerations. Taken by itself, Bryan's removal from the office of figurehead in the State Department was regarded with unqualified gratification. Wall street has not been so ill-informed as to imagine that the Secretary was performing any serious function in directing our foreign relations. On the contrary, the Stock Exchange has long been aware that the office was in commission, with the President framing policies, a thoroughly competent board of diplomatic experts passing on detailed questions, and the Secretary merely receiving visitors and signing documents. But, despite this knowledge, there was bound to be an uncomfortable feeling in the minds of experienced watchers, first over the possibility that a flighty politician in such a place might, some thought, insist on medding, to the country's detriment, and second, over the bad impression which was bound to be created by Bryan's continuance in the office, upon people at home and abroad, who did not understand the facts of the situation.

"This feeling of relief at last night's news was offset, in the financial mind, by the evidence that Bryan himself considered the message to Germany, as outlined by the President, to be a preliminary to war. In the more volatile and irresponsible Wall street circles, it was natural that the day should be given up to rumors' that the rest of the Cabinet was resigning office. This particular foolishness was to have been expected in any event, but it played its part in the occasional selling movements.

"As to the inference that the forthcoming reiolnder to Germany would the mild weather has reduced consumption and spot demand therefore is limited. Plate is marketing freely as the Russell's News, New York, said: "The extremely congested conditions in Europe are given for the report that exported oats are to be returned. On boot has returned to New York, bringing back about 200,000 bu of oats yesterday. At the office of the agents of the steamship line it was stated that owing to the congestion the time for unloading the balance of the cargoes was extremely indefinite. The congestion at Marseilles is also very serious and grain boats arriving there in early May are reported to be still waiting to unload." Clearances: Wheat, 929,000 bu; flour. 2,000 bu. "My-but Sanatogen makes one enjoy living!"

AND you know it is a pleasure beyond the telling when, after weeks of overwork have weakened your system's forces, you begin to take Sanatogen and feel that old-time vigor come back with a new desire to accomplish and a new joy in living.

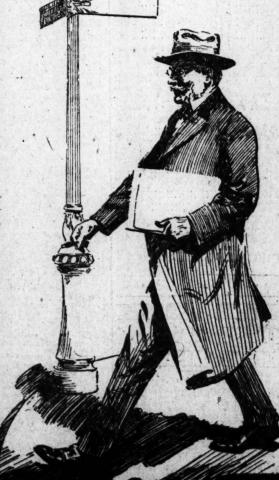

The best of it is that it's no temperary relief that Sanatogen gives—but a real, lasting improvement in bodily health and especially in the health of the nervous system. For combining the properties both of a food and a tonic, Sanatogen nourishes the nerve-cells, rebuilds the wasted energies and tones up the whole system as it helps gather a new store of strength.

You can scarcely doubt that Sanatogen will help you when you remember that over 21,600 doctors have endorsed it in personal letters—and when you read what John Burroughs, the celebrated naturalist, writes:

"I have been greatly benefited by Sanatogen. My sleep is fifty per cent better than it was one year ago, and my mind and strength are much improved." Or what Colonel Watterson, the famous editor, writes:

Sanatogen is sold by good druggists everywhere in three sizes, from $1.00 up. Grand Prize, International Congress of Medicine, London, 1918
